OHIO CIRCUIT COURT.
} Ex parte Petition.
WILLIAM MORRIS and MARY F. MORRIS, }

This day, William Morris and Mary F. Morris filed a petition in my office, praying the Ohio Circuit Court to empower said Mary F. Morris with all the rights and privileges of a feme sole to authorize and empower her to use, enjoy, sell and convey for her own benefit, any property she may own or acquire, free from the claims or liens of her husband, and to make, execute and deliver such contracts, and be sued as a single woman, to trade in her own name and to dispose of her property by will or deed.

Witness my hand this 21st day of March, 1884.
G. B. LEKENS, Clerk.

Rev. J. C. Buchanan conducted Easter services at the Cumberland Presbyterian church last Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m. Rev. W. S. Winkler conducted the evening services.

The work on the extension of the new railroad from Fordville to Horse Branch will be completed within the next two days and the regular train will run in operation from Horse Branch to Owensboro.

The telephone line from here to Beaver Dam is being reconstructed. Fine large chestnut posts and new wire are being put up the entire length. The work is being superintended by that person of good fellows, Stephen May.

County Surveyor, J. H. Wilson, who has assisted us very materially on our trip for the past few weeks, goes to Taylor Mines today, to make an exterior map of that country's territory this week. The survey will embrace about 1,750 acres.

In satisfaction of the recent law closing barber shops Monday, H. C. Pace will in the future keep his shop open until 12 o'clock Saturday night and closed from this date on Sundays. His many patrons are certainly required to go to govern themselves accordingly.

Mr. W. H. Griffin received his commission as postmaster at Hartford Sunday and formally took charge of the office Monday. Miss Ada Baird, who was formerly announced, is the assistant postmaster. The office will be kept for awhile where it is now, after which it will be kept in the corner building next door to L. Klein's hardware store.

We were handed a communication this week from some mine owner, signed simply "H. H." It had no date to denote where it was from. We publish no article unless the real name of the writer is signed. This is a rule of which we have made note before, and hope our correspondents will remember it when writing to the Herald.

The body of Charles Pruitt, mentioned of whom was made two weeks ago, was found Saturday morning eight miles below the mouth of Eagle creek in Pound river. The body had been in the water eighteen days and was badly decomposed, but it was immediately recognized as the body of Pruitt by the men who found it. The remains were interred at Calhoun Saturday night between 9 and 9 o'clock.

The lamp or block of coal that was reported in the Herald of last week as being taken from the Stroud mines was an error. It was taken from the L. C. Stroud mines, two miles north-west of Calhoun, and seven miles west of Hartford. The same can now be seen at Beaver Dam. It is 24 feet square and 8 feet in length, and is made of oak lumber to securely hold it together. There was five barrels of coal from the same mine sent to J. B. Atkinson, Lexington, Ky., to be coked and then shipped to Chicago and placed alongside that immense block of coal.

John Shultz, living on the W. H. Moore farm near Sulphur Springs, lost his house and all its contents by fire last Thursday afternoon. Mr. Shultz was on the farm some distance from the house at that time. His wife went to visit a neighbor and while she was gone, the wind blew the door open and the fire broke out on the floor, causing the fire. The generous neighbors started a subscription list for his benefit, to help him out on the loss.

He had no insurance, and is a young man just starting out in life.

PLEASANT RIDGE, KY.

April 3, 1901.—Mrs. C. W. Taylor and children returned on the 28th ult. from their visit in the Taylortown.

Mr. L. B. Black of Horton and Miss E. B. Black of Taylor Mines, accompanied by Mr. Wm. Balzell, took the last express here Wednesday for Jeffersonville, where the young lady and Mr. Black were to be married.

At 10:30 a. m. Thursday last, we were informed that the Presbyterian church at Pleasant Ridge, where the wedding was to be held, was a handsome building on the corner of the bridge and the river.

"Black" on his return to Horton, where he and groom will be married, will not have a large reception.

At 10:30 a. m. Thursday last, we were informed that the Presbyterian church at Pleasant Ridge, where the wedding was to be held, was a handsome building on the corner of the bridge and the river.

This is from Mr. D. M. Jordan, a retired farmer, and fourth Sabbath, the Waltons' Creek Sabbath School was organized on the first Sabbath.

Reverend Amos T. Brown, of the first Sabbath, had the groom, it is reported, failed to put in his appearance.

Somebody bargained Mr. Alay Tichenor's country at the first Sabbath, taking all of Mr. Tichenor's money, and leaving him to leave the meat and flour unmolested.

Meas. Rowe & Morton are finishing the upper rooms of their dry goods house for the purpose, I am informed, of carrying a large supply of ready-made clothing. Messrs. Foster, of the Waltons' Creek, are making connection with their store.

Where is Rummage?

On Wednesday last, Joe Rummage, of Whiteville, was in Hartford, and during the day was seen with a large roll of money. Late in the afternoon he departed for home, and was seen on Friday night on the levee beyond Hines Mill, when he had not been heard from since.

Late that night his horse was reached home with the bride return and search was at once instituted for him. The roll of money was found in the house of a friend, who had been seen near Whiteville for some years. He sold whiskey and was said to have been money as he did not pay his debts, it is probable he had considerable money about him.

Friday, officers from Owensboro raided on his store for debts which he owed Owensboro parties, where he owes more than $1,000.

There is much difference of opinion as to whether he has been found dead or is in the hands of his creditors, who he owes to various parties. His family claim to know nothing of his whereabouts, but it is hardly probable he could have been murdered. He will probably be heard of by his family, or by his creditors.

Chapman-Rowe.
One of the prettiest weddings seen in Hartford in a long time, was that of Mr. F. H. Chapman to Miss Elsie Rowe, which took place in the millinery room of Fair Bros. & Co's store last Wednesday.

It was known that the two young people were going to be married here during the day and the Messrs. Fair let their friends to celebrate the occasion in the beautiful millinery parlor of the store.

The room was beautifully arranged and Misses Helen Foster and Emma Fair had constructed a large floral ball, under which the young people stood while Rev. O. S. Hays pronounced the marriage ceremony.

There was a simple elegance about the affair which made it memorable to the few friends who witnessed it. The young people are both well known and popular and have many good wishes accompanying them.

The charming surroundings which added so much to the interest of the event gave pleasant evidence of the taste and elegance with which the young people about Fair Bros. store can adorn an occasion of the kind.

SUPPER, KY.
April 1, 1901.—Many of our farmers are ready to plant corn, and a March is gone, it will not be long until the work will be completed.

J. E. and L. R. Magan's little boy died Friday morning and was buried in the cemetery at Centertown.

The sick baby of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Riley is some better.

The East-Brown feud is getting along as warm as Grease. Weaver's reelection in the South during the last campaign.

Something is going to happen soon, as wedding bells can be heard in the distance.

Demands are coming from all parts of the county for our Representative to return duty or resign.

Being somewhat familiar with the case, the principle of saying that his health will not permit of his returning to duty will save there an expense to elect one to fill out the unexpired term.
